About

Back in 1979, our co-founders came together to sell essentials at affordable prices for students. From there, the store has expanded into a space to hangout between classes, play music, and purchase items for the lowest prices on campus. It started with a mission to sell essential supplies and is now a hotspot for so much more—add some vinyls, video games, art supplies, and 40 years later, voila! You've got the awesome G-Store of today.

How We Operate

We pride ourselves by being “by the students, for the students.” The General Store Co-op is a non-profit, non-hierarchical business model run exclusively by students. There are no bosses or bureaucratic strings attached (non-hierarchical), and every dollar made goes right back into the store (non-profit). We make all decisions by consensus, which means everyone has to agree before we can make any decisions!

Check Us Out!

We absolutely love our community, and are constantly striving to uphold the G-Store spirit and meet the needs of our peers and customers. Stop by for some of the cheapest prices on campus, jam on our historic piano, hang out and play a video game, or join us for one of our collage events or open mic nights!
